The Fifth Annual Omaha Quilters' Guild Quilt Show will be held April 16th and 17th at College Center, College of St. Mary, 1901 So. 72nd St., Omaha, Nebraska. The hours on Friday are from noon to 7:00 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The OQG is working on a quilt to be raffled at the show, if finished.

BIBLE QUILT GROUP - Ruth Hicks drew up many 12 inch blocks for the group with something like 23 New Testament and 23 Old Testament blocks. I haven't been able to attend but am trying to "keep up" at home. There are blocks such as Crown of Thorns, Jacob's Ladder, Garden of Eden ...and so forth. Many are enjoying this group. -- Joan AFTERNOON WORKSHOP -- We met at Mida Gieseke's on a very beautiful sunny day, but with a very small turnout. You missed the most interesting doll collection I've ever seen. Mida showed us her new project, an old-fashioned pattern she found and is making with part of the quilt pieced and part stuffed work. Mida had lots of quilts on display in the bedrooms and more dolls. Very beautiful!

Eunice Plucknett has been busy spreading the "gospel" of quilting. An extension group has visited her house to see the quilt projects, she has had a three class session of beginner's making dresden plate pillows to see if they liked quilting.

Eunice and Hazel Warren helped a large group of young women (20-25) in the rural area get started on a quilt for the Mennonite Relief Sale. They are an enthusiastic group with only one deciding that quilting wasn't her bag. This group had not quilted before. They are making a sampler quilt.

The next Plain Print deadline is April 25th.
