GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH A LQG MEMBER. . .by Janet Eskridge

Sharon Beachell became interested in quilting through quilts she inherited from her grandmothers--2 flower gardens (one with applique and embroidery), and one pieced quilt. Sharon joined the Guild last year.

Sharon has always been interested in handwork. She is an accomplished seamstress--she's currently making two choir robes for her church. She has made many clothes for herself and for her two daughters, Shelly, 18 and Nancy, 14. She has made several vests using the strip piecing method and has done transparent and reverse applique. She also enjoys counted cross-stitch. Sharon hasn't made a full sized quilt yet, but she's hoping to make a sampler quilt someday.

Sharon works full time as a bookkeeper for the municipal court where she has been employed for ten years. She also serves on the Public Health Nursing Advisory Board for Lancaster County, and is active in her church. Her husband is a field representative for the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. A recent highlight in the Beachell home was hosing a French student for the month of August. We are glad to have Sharon in the LQG and look forward to getting to know her better.

REPORT FROM SEPTEMBER AFTERNOON WORKSHOP

The September afternoon workshop met with Gladys Stromer with 15 Guild members and 2 guests present. This was the first time for Sherrill Peckenpaugh, a new member of the Guild and her little son Jason was a guest. Mida had her sister from Houston as a guest and they were both working on bargello on plastic canvas covers for boutique tissue boxes. Marie was embroidering blocks for a unique quilt, each block representing one of her fifteen grandchildren and showing an outline of the hand and significant motifs. Lydia is making another cathedral window quilt and also showed an unusual small framed medallion embroidered with candlewicking. Heddy was putting together blocks of her quilt-as-you-go sampler quilt. Elvina is beginning a vest and Mary is making a basket lid in patchwork design. Hope asked for advice on quilting a top her mother had pieced. Ruth brought an old quilt, probably at least eighty years old, in a star design to show. She also delivered the anniversary banner for us to do some quilting on before sending it on to the evening group.

PCOMING MEETINGS

8

November Meeting: Kari Ronning will be concentrating on quilts with 60 degree diamonds. She asks that anyone having such quilts, wallhangings, etc. bring them to the meeting. Examples are Baby's Blocks, some star patterns and some patterns using hexagons and diamonds.

No meeting in December: Happy Holidays!

January 10 meeting: Louise Howey, longtime guild member and collector will bring some examples from her superb collection of quilts. A must for all lovers of antique quilts!

Looking Ahead to April: Bettina Havig of Columbia, Mo. will be speaking on Amish quilts at our April meeting. She will be staying over to do an all-day workshop on Tuesday, April 12.
