

December LQG Announcements

A note from President Christina Chapman:

I know it's officially winter break for the guild, but there's always something going on, or news to share. So here are a few items to consider...

From Sara Kenny, Quilts of Valor:

Let us start the year off with a bang!

Yep, you guessed it.....the folks at Patriotic Productions are sponsoring another Honor Flight in May, this time for Purple Heart recipients from the Gulf War, Iraq and Afghanistan. They have asked if we can provide Quilts of Valor to these heroes, and of course, I had to say "yes." We will need up to 135 in total and they all need to be red, white and blue, with pillowcases. I realize I am asking this during the time when many Guilds, including Lincoln are on winter break but I wanted to get the message out about the need and maybe some of you would like to quilt over the winter???

I would need to have all the finished quilts by early April and any quilt tops by the March meeting. Yeah, not much time, but hopefully, it will work out.

Also, Quilts of Valor will be sponsoring a Sewing Day on Saturday Feb 2, 2019 at the Eastridge Presbyterian Church (in the basement). The event will begin around 9 and run through 4, with door prizes, lunch and lots of fun. Volunteers need to bring their own machines and extension cords. If volunteers have projects to work on, great, but if not, we will have kits. To give the group an idea of how many might show up, please let Julia Schroeder (missyquilts16@gmail.com) know that you are coming. We are hoping to use this day to really work on QOVs for the Honor Flight.

In addition, QOV will be featured at the National Quilting Day at the IQSC in March.

Notice of Correction:

At the November meeting, we voted to approve the October minutes. However, we later discovered a typographical error in the information about quilts for Home Instead and Fresh Start. The desired size was originally listed as cuddle quilt size (22 x 55) or twin size. BUT the size of cuddle quilts should have read 44 x 55. The minutes have now been corrected on the website, but we also wanted to point out the correction in case you're working on these quilts over the winter break. If you have any questions, contact Vicky Skuodas.

Membership Renewals:

Don't forget to renew your membership early (postmarked by December 31, 2018) so you get the early bird rate.

Minutes of the last meeting:

Here is a copy of the draft minutes prepared by outgoing Secretary Joni Sauter. They will also be included in the Plain Print just before we resume in the Spring so we can vote on approving them in March. But I thought you might like to review some of the information that was shared at the November meeting.
